DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 14-17 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 and 2 of U.S. Patent No.

6,944,035. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they both claim the similar subject matter of a power factor correction converter (PFC) having positive and negative rails with a DC source connection to the PFC in event of line source failure.

3. Claims 18 is rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 2-6 of U.S. Patent No. 6,661,678.

Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they both claim the similar subject matter a power factor correction converter (PFC) having an output circuit such that the AC output shares a common line with the AC source.

4. Claims 19-23 and 24-25 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-9, and 51-61, respectively of U.S. Patent No. 6,400,586. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because they both claim the similar subject matter a power factor correction converter (PFC) that generates the AC output voltage at the load from the DC output voltage and a neutral connecting the AC power source and the load.

5. Per claims 24 and 25 with respect to the patented claims 51-61, they both claim the similar subject matter "increasing and decreasing current through the first and second inductors from an AC power source at the AC input port responsive to a first input to generate a DC output voltage at the DC output port from the AC power source and to control a power factor at the AC input port; increasing and decreasing current through the first and second inductors from a DC power source at the DC input port responsive to a second input to generate a DC output voltage at the DC output port from the DC power source".
